Teacher Appreciation Night

In Loving Memory of Senor Harry Harden
October 25, 1952-January 23, 2000

Since Southeast High School first opened its doors in 1988, Mr. Harden was a dedicated educator and faculty member. He served as chairman of the Foreign Language Department and taught Spanish on three levels. He is greatly missed by the students and fellow faculty members.

Student Life

Led by drum majors Jay and Amanda, Southeast's Marching Warriors add some serious flavor to the Pep Rally.

Mascot Chancellor Lucear, aided by cheerleader Marybeth Edge, tries vigorously to get the sophomores crunk.

The Senior class of 2000 demonstrates for the underclassmen some true Southeast spirit.

Kikora James gives a wide grin, knowing she's the center of attention.

You go Glamour Girls! Show dem how da do dat 'dere

Warrior Territory!

Which one of Southeast's Pep Rallies are the best? IT DOESN'T MATTER!

When it comes to pep rallies, the Southeast Warriors reign supreme. Through the superior playing antics of the band and encouraging chants of the student body, the Warriors display high-spirit, great leadership, and a unique sense of school pride. Which pep rally was the best? IT DOESN'T MATTER! Because every warrior pep rally is a great one.

Southeast's biggest fan Josh Booker ecstatically receives the game ball from Principal Richard Mathis.

Dennis Rodman look-alike Kyle Sneed wonders why he did this to his hair.

Prom Night 2000

Go White Boys!!

Say Cheese!

Love your dresses!

Conga Line!

Stylin' and Profylin'

It's a Kodak moment.

Beautiful, simply beautiful

Come on down You can tell there is magic in the air when Jessica Willingham walks out escorted by her man.

Picture This The prom would not have been the same without Jeremy Brown's crazy self and his date Emilee.

No Hanky-Panky Quinton Mangham had fun dancing with his girl. You should've seen him go.

Spirit Week

Southeast; a "spirit-founded" school

Give a shout-out! Southeast Warriors show their pride during a rally.

THRILLER! Lookout! This Warrior, Wes Pergerson, is coming after you.

Cheese, or Cheezy? Reigning "Wacky Hair Day" champion Michael Ogden still smiles after sharing this year's victory with Scott Adams.

They got the idea! Best friends Hannah Curtis and Andrea Brock are the epitome of spirit.

Can we say ... spirited?! Love the hair-do Derek Hall! Way to show your pride.

Homecoming King and Queen Gamero Dennis and Rachel Cummings show off their trophies after winning the hearts of not only the school, but also the crowd!

QUEEN Me!

An astonished Rachel Cummings receives her crown from former SE Principal Vickie Scott. Congratulations Rachel!

Here Ye, Here Ye!

Mr. Freshman

James Alexander takes a break from winning to become THE Freshman. Just look at him smiling away!

Miss. Freshman

When you think freshman, and you think girl, you can only think of Lisa Thomas. Doesn't she look excited!

Mr. and Miss. Sophomore

Stephen Ballard and Tierra Raines pose for the camera after receiving such a glorious title.

Mr. Junior

Accompanied by his date, Landers Brown steps forward to accept his well-deserved recognition.

Jaurice Paul and Regina Harris show wide grins as they anticipate the results of Homecoming.

Jarvis Wimbush and Octavia Ammons calmly prepare for their inauguration.

Crowning Achievement

Warriors produce most memorable Homecoming ever.

This year Southeast produced its most memorable Homecoming court ever. Adorned in dazzling attire and vibrant smiles, the court strutted proudly and beautifully in front of hundreds.

After the half-time activities, the football team put on their own show. With a score of 47-21, SE crushed Bleckley County, thus making the night twice as memorable.

Robert Evans and Crestacia Blash give jubilant smiles in light of their victory.

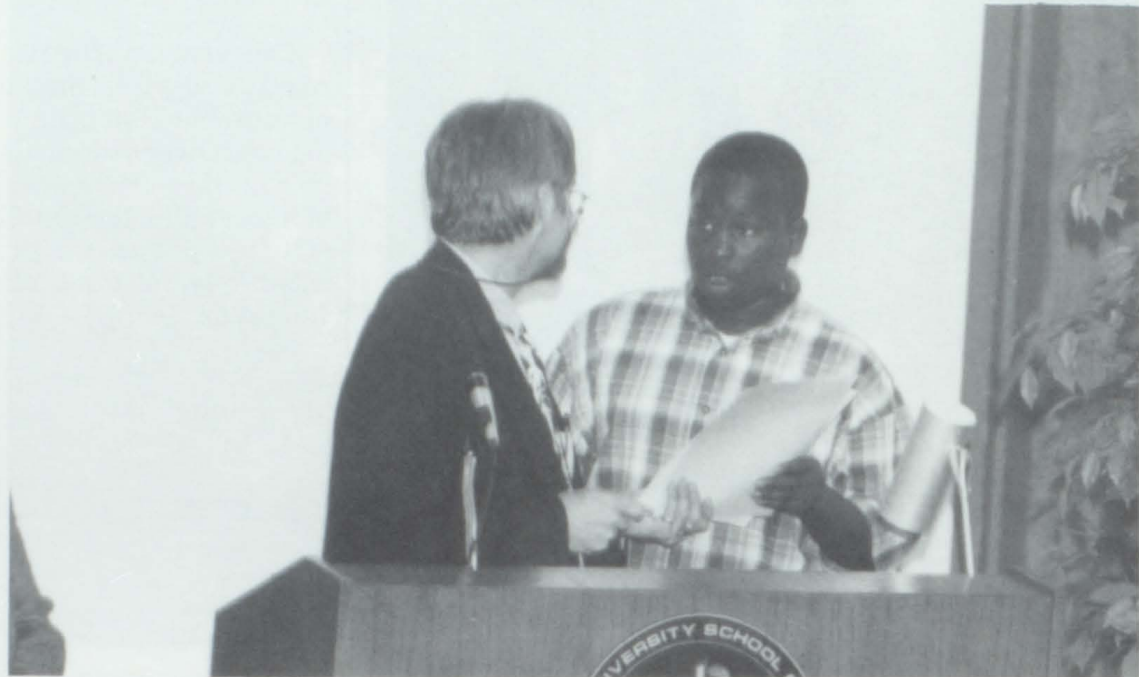

Suzanne Maddox and Thomas Cote patiently wait to be called.

Underclassmen Honors Night

Underclassmen are praised for their many achievements.

SMILE

... THAT'S IT?! Jordan Bass looks like he wanted a trophy more than a certificate.

YOU GO GIRL Carliesha Brown struts her stuff as she receives her award.

WAY TO GO Mrs. Tedders congratulates Pablo Noriega on his accomplishment.

KEEP YOUR HEAD UP Marie Dickens looks down at the trophies that her and her classmates will receive.

TAKE A BREAK Rashod Tylor looks exhausted after his numerous trips to the stage.

10, 13, 24, HUT Scott Newberry grabs his trophy as it is "handed off" to him.

Why do you think we have an Honors Night?

"For teachers to show how good we've done and give us stuff for doing it." Michael Ogden "Because we need a night that shows us some love!" Michael Ballard "People feel sorry for us because the Seniors get everything, so they figure, Why not?!" Adam Layton

Fine Arts Night

Get close, get friendly

Family Feud?!

Go Nikki!

Good food, good fun, good people!

Warm up time!

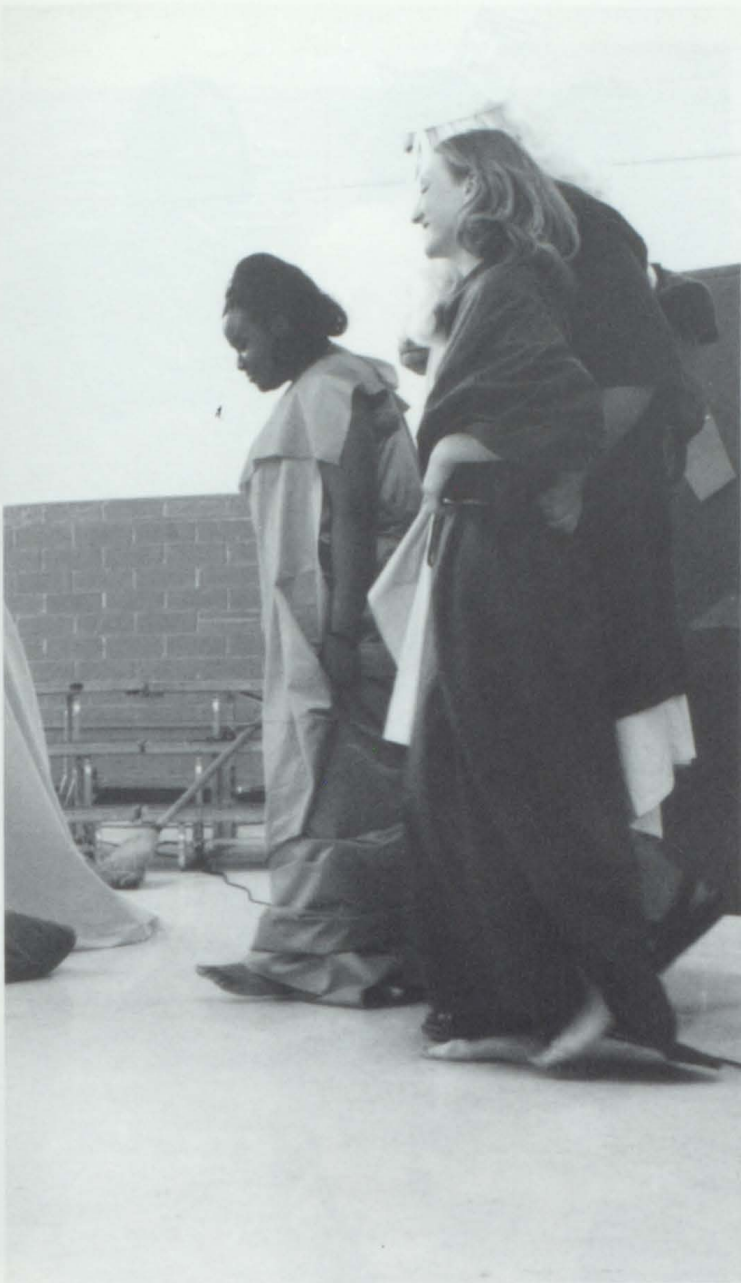

Nice smile Burkhalter!

Father Abraham Cote!

On the move
Thomas Cote, Sarah Gill, and Equanza Veal switch scenes in their play about Abraham.

Art is fun
This is just a sample of the many pieces of wonderful artwork donated to the show by some very talented Warriors.

Act Crazy
The "Esther" group shows how they really care about each other.

Caught in the act
Mrs. Shropshire was enjoying her dinner until surprised with a camera in her face.

After reading The Pigman in Mrs. Lamb's Honors English 10 class, Kyle Sneed played the title character in their mock funeral.

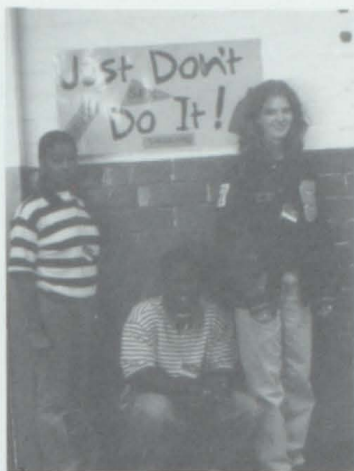

Kikora James believes that each day is an adventure in Mr. Burkhalter's class.

This group of juniors and seniors participated in the 2nd annual history trip to Washington, D.C. They were chaperoned by Evie Crumbliss and Beth Martin.

Amanda Samuels, a senior in Mrs. Mackey's Home Economics class, won 3rd place in the "Beef it Up" Contest at the Perry Fair.

Brittany Shropshire, Donald Mintz, and Rachel Cummings, along with the rest of Mr. Ficklin's Psychology class participated in the "Just Don't Do It" video and poster campaign.

Putting The Fun In Fundamentals.

Teachers Find Ways To Keep Students Awake.

Every teacher has their own unique style and method of teaching, whether its sleep inducing lectures or thought-provoking class discussions. One thing they all share in common, however, is the desire to make learning an interesting and rewarding experience.

When asked what makes a good teacher, students have very strong opinions. Nikki Woodard describes the ideal teacher as one who "answers questions instead of avoiding them" and "makes sure students understand before progressing." Jeremy Brown echoes these statements, preferring "a teacher who "seems to care and speaks to the person and not the class."

Throughout the years, students are bombarded with an innumerable amount of projects and special assignments. Samantha Melton recalls "playing with fire in Mrs. Stephens' class" as her favorite. Asked what the most unusual thing Scott Adams was taught, he replied, "Mr. Beal explained to our Algebra II class how $1=2$."

Wesley Pergerson and Jeremy Brown act out the Biblical book of Jonah in Miss Crumbliss' Comparative Religions class.

To the delight of some and disgust of others, Mrs. Ross' Anatomy and Physiology class dissected a fetal pig. Here, Derek Thomas poses with his victim before digging in.

Warriors!

SPECIAL NEWS BULLETIN: It appears that an alien has infiltrated the campus of Southeast High School. The being's spacecraft was found crashed in front of the main building. As evidenced by these exclusive photos, the extraterrestrial has created a great deal of trouble, causing individuals to lose control and behave strangely. We urge every student to proceed with caution, for your classmate or teacher may not be who they appear to be ...

CRASH LANDING

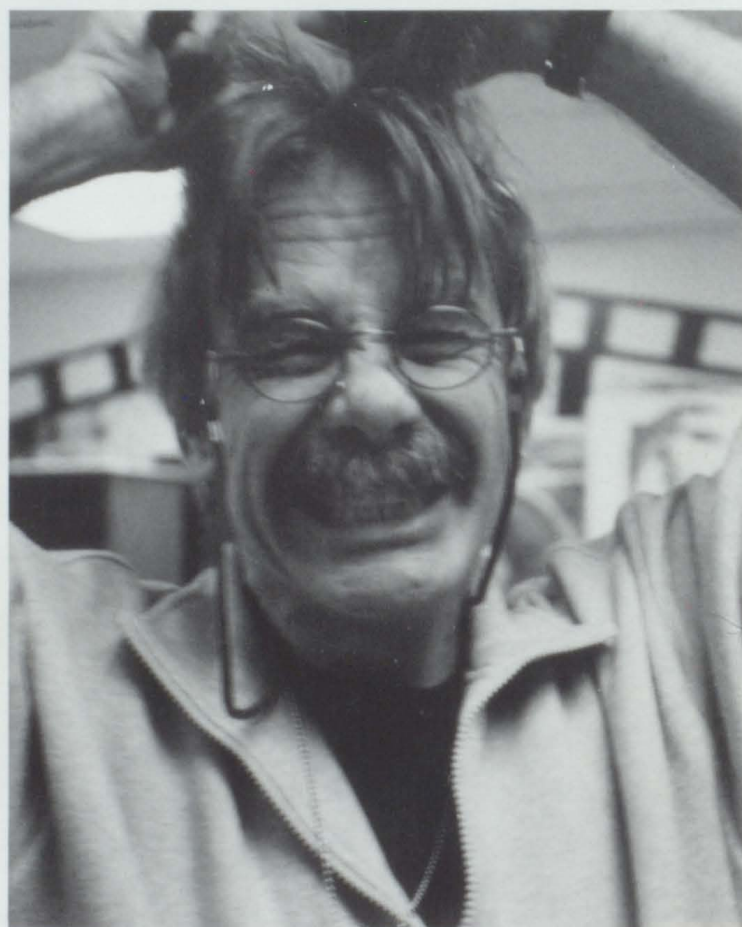

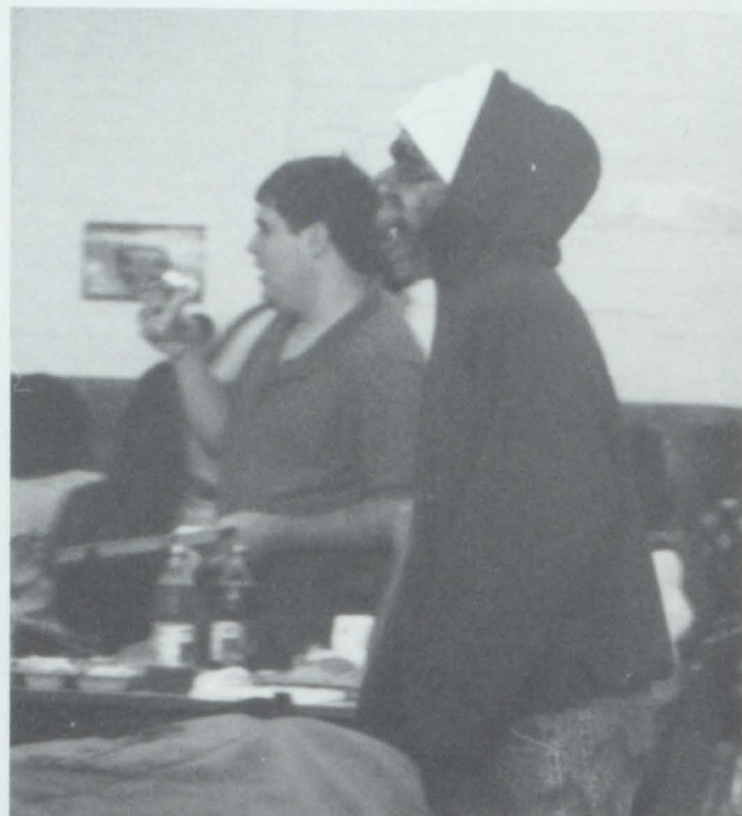

Witnesses first became suspicious of the visitor when they noticed a massive crater outside the main office building, about the perfect size of an alien spaceship.

ALIEN ENCOUNTER

The first to witness the little green guy, Mr. Burkhalter reacts in horror at his discovery.

ACT NATURAL

Here the foreign invader attempts to blend in with the rest of the student body. NICE TRY!

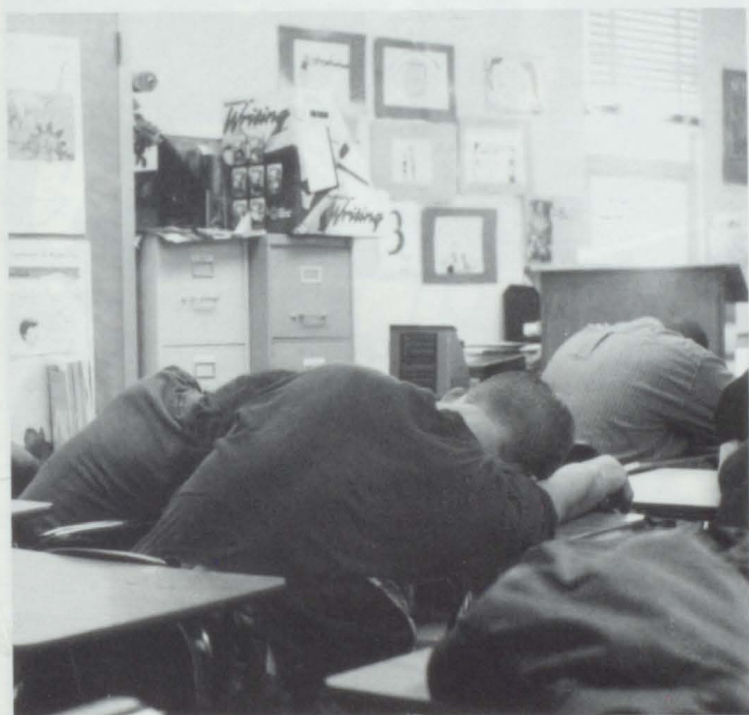

BRAINWASHED

Our visitor hypnotized these poor warriors into thinking they were cheerleaders. The crowd looks on in disbelief.

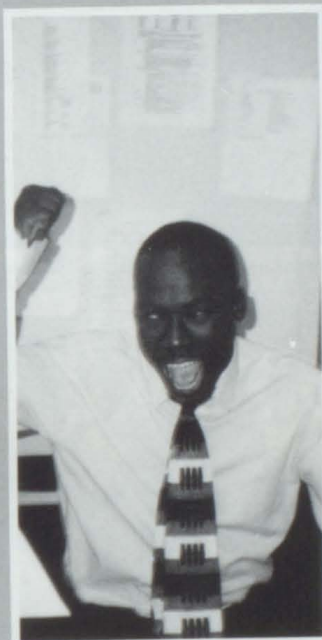

TAKE ME TO YOUR LEADER

We don't know who was more terrified ... Mrs. Stephens or the alien she came face-to-face with.

RISE AND SHINE

Mrs. Knight's class will be relieved to discover that this hair-raising experience was only a dream ...

Or Was It?!!!

BRING ON THE HEAT! Senior Donna Cox is ready for anything that comes her way! Due to her determination and love of the game she did a great job for the Warriors as varsity shortstop. She was also named to All-City and honorable mention to All-State. She will definitely be missed.

SMILIN' N PROFILIN' Breanna Bengé keeps a smile as she throws out the runner going to first. She did a great job as the Warriors third baseman and was glad to have been a big part of the Region winning team.

LIKE A CAT! As senior varsity catcher, Suzanne Maddox has been quick as a cat for the past three years as fastpitch. She has been a big part of the team and definitely has kept everyone laughing. Her great catching ability and her sense of humor will be greatly missed.

BAD TO THE BONE

Triqwesa Pierce, once again shows off her muscles, and comes through with a base hit. She did a great job as a Warriors outfielder and everyone could always count on her for a hit. Her little glove and bubbly personality will be missed.

DOWN AND READY

Amanda Little is down and ready for whatever comes her way. She was ready on first and was always ready to fill in wherever she is needed. She was named player of the week, after the team won region, for coming through with numerous hits when it really counted.

CAUGHT IN THE ACT

Sophomore Beth Scarbary, was caught in the act of a powerful pitch. She definitely helped lead the Warriors to many victories with her fast pitching and quick bat. Her hard work also gained her a spot on the All-City team.

Summer Camp, Finally!!!

Camp was held at Georgia Southern University. They had a great instructor from the NCA squad at GSU. They worked hard on stunting, cheers and dances. They brought back great new cheers, lots of Spirit, new friendships and a "Most Improved" Trophy.

Stunts

This year the cheerleaders learned how to do stunts. Every chance they got they tried to put one into one or two of their cheers. There were a couple of experienced stunts on the squad and now there will be a few more. They learned to work together, more than ever, to pull off the stunts and make it look easy and fun!!

Coaches

The coaches this year have been the best and deserve recognition. Miss Harriet Johnson is a math teacher here at Southeast, she is very special to all the cheerleaders. Mrs. Linda Melton is the assistant coach, she was there for all the girls and Miss Johnson when they needed her. They were there to support the players as well as the cheerleaders and did a very good job.

VARSITY CHEERLEADERS

This squad has cheered together for at least two years. They have laughed and cried throughout this entire year. The seniors of the squad are going to be greatly missed. They had been under the instruction of Miss Johnson.

GRAPEVINE

Co-Captain Monique Morris and fellow squad member Teamera Raines tell the other team that "what they've got is not enough." The crowd went wild when they saw the faces on the other team.

Spirit!!!

The entire squad is either watching the players to see if they need to do a cheer for defense or offense, or striking a pose for the camera man. The spirit is shown in posing for the picture and calling cheers, which is shown through everything they do!

Group Jump!

5, 6, 7, 8! They all rise in unison as they begin to do a group jump. The whole group goes into the toe touch. They all begin with the perfect height they need to have to do their best jumps. And just look at those smiles.

The team takes a quick break to regain some energy and listen to Coach Maddox. Brenna Stubbs would rather pose for the picture than listen to the coach.

WANNA BE LIKE MIKE
Chancellor Lucear looks like Michael Jordan as he lays up a phat slam! Not only was Chancellor the life of the team he was also a leading scorer for the Warriors. When asked who was the craziest on the team, "Chancellor" was always the answer.

The team could always count on Maurice Jones. He also could pull a sweet three out of any situation. Maurice was a team player that always kept everybody under control and in check.

SET IT OFF ON THE LEFT, NOW!

Not only can Travis Walker dance, he can also play a great game. Here Travis gets a pass on the sly from Jaurice. Travis was a great rebounder and scored many points for the Warriors. Coach looks for-
